More Workers Needed By Local Red Cross

Fall and Winter Dances Scheduled to Start in October; Branch Ready to Aid Foreign Born Citizens to Trace Relatives

The first meeting of the Fall season was held by the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross in the council chamber on Tuesday evening, president W. Dutil presided.

Correspondence which had piled up during the summer recess was read and discussed. Secretary Park stated he had the necessary forms required for tracing persons now residing in the Italian battle zone and persons wishing to trace relatives would receive the co-operation of the local branch.

Messrs. Dutil and Park were authorized to engage an orchestra and hall and endeavor to get the Red Cross fall and winter dances started as soon as possible.

The ladies' work room committee reported that they were drastically short of volunteer workers. Kniters and sewers are especially needed and it authorized display cards be printed and posted at various points throughout town asking for Red Cross workers. Those desiring to help need only contact either Mrs. H. Sherratt, Mrs. T. B. Smith, Mrs. W. L. Rippon, Mrs. J. Kellock, Mrs. W. L. Burrows or Miss A. Yuill who will be only too pleased to secure them material with which to work.

Salvation Army Fast Approaching Campaign Quota

Bellevue-Hillcrest Lead With $323 Donation; $659 Collected Against $1000 Quota.

From present indications it would appear that the Salvation Army Red Shield campaign in the Crow's Nest Pass to raise a $1,000 quota would be achieved before many more weeks have passed. At the present time $659 have been collected.

Up to Wednesday morning the Bellevue-Hillcrest district was leading in donations. The miners assessed themselves 50c each and as a result $300 was collected. The Bellevue business section has contributed $23 with Hillcrest still to report. Coleman is next in line with $256 from the miners and $55 from the business section. Coleman is not fully canvassed however and it is possible that it may still attain its $500 quota. $15 in donations was received at Frank on Tuesday, Lieut. Nahrney collected $10 at Sentinel.

Mayor Enoch Williams, chairman of the Blairmore campaign, has been very busy with private matters during the past two weeks and has not had the opportunity of getting his collections started. Blairmore's quota is $400.

Strawberries In September

It's hard to believe but we have Stuart Murdoch's word for it that strawberries are growing in large numbers at the present time in the York Creek district.

Stuart, who is an ardent hiker, was walking through the hills in the York Creek area, on Sunday, when he came upon several patches of strawberries. Many were ripe for picking while others were due to ripen in a few days.

Nazi atrocities against the Polish people in occupied Poland have reached a pitch where all true Poles throughout the Allied world are rising in protest and appealing to the Allied governments to use all the power at their command to have the Nazi halt such atrocities.

In a booklet entitled "The Truth About Poland" the following facts are listed: The struggle of the Polish nation for freedom and integrity of Poland cost the Nation 8,000,000 victims. During that time:

2,500,000 Poles were murdered by the Germans.

500,000 Poles were starved to death by the Germans.

2,000,000 Poles were sent to forced labor in Germany.

1,000,000 Poles were deported from western Poland to the Government General.

1,500,000 Poles were deported to Soviets to Russia.

348 villages have been burned to the ground and ploughed under like Lidice, 1,080 have been evacuated and all the inhabitants either killed or deported.

Lions to Aid Soldiers' Parcel Fund

Will Sponsor Raffle or Concert in Near Future to Raise Funds

At request of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Coleman Lions club, at its supper-meeting on Monday evening, decided to sponsor a raffle or concert, depending on the decision of its directors next week, to raise funds for the Soldiers' Parcel Fund.

It is estimated that it will require approximately $600 to send presents to all Coleman persons in the armed forces. Should not sufficient money be available it is possible that those soldiers in the Dominion, of necessity may have their presents reduced from those of past years.

Coleman Boys Meet In Halifax

It appears the biggest thrill a fellow can receive when he is hundreds of miles away from home is to bump right into a fellow from the old home town.

Such was the case of Henry Evans the other week. He is down at Halifax and has been for some time. Suddenly who should he run into but Bob "Boots" McLeod. They shook hands like long lost brothers and after asking a hundred and one questions without waiting for an answer to any they decided to go out for supper and have a talk about the old home town.

Henry took time out one evening upon hearing that Tony Coclone was in the city to visit him, Tony, who had been a little homesick, was one of the happiest young men in Halifax that evening as he pumped Henry for all the news from home.

RUSSELL FERGUSON BEREAVED

The death occurred in Calgary on Sept. 24 of Louise Jane Ferguson, beloved mother of Mr. Russell Ferguson, of Coleman. She was in her 86th year, and moved from Fernie to Calgary some five years ago. She was a native of Wallace, Nova Scotia. Other survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Noles of Point Edward, N.S., and Mrs. Wm. Baldrey, of Trail; and a son, Barrington, of Fernie.

Air Gunner John Troman, of Lethbridge and formerly of Coleman, was mentioned in Saturday's casualty lists as a German prisoner-of-war after having been missing in action for several weeks.

LEUT. R. D. MARKS THANKS COUNCIL FOR ITS CO-OPERATION

Sept. 18, 1943 Coleman Town Council, Coleman, Alberta.

My Dear Comrades: I should like to take the liberty to thank you very kindly for your co-operation in making the opening of our new Salvation Army hall in Coleman a success.

This has been a great help to the Army in Coleman and is certainly a strength to me personally.

Headquarters are very pleased to know that the town folk there are so interested.

Let me again thank you and wish you God's richest blessings on all of you in the future.

Yours faithfully, R. D. Marks, Lieutenant.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE

On Sunday afternoon, six youngsters, the eldest being about seven or eight years of age, were seen playing in the concrete drainage pipe which stretches from the John Sudworth residence to the Joe DeCocco residence on Third street. One end of the pipe is open and they had pried the cover off the other end. They were having great fun crawling through approximately seventy feet of pipe most of which is underground.

Had any of these children become excited when passing through the pipe they might have injured themselves before someone could have crawled through to rescue them. A screen should be placed on the open end in front of the Sudworth residence and the cover in front of the DeCocco residence should be made more secure in order that children may be stopped from the dangerous practice of crawling through long sections of pipe.

CARD OF THANKS

WE WISH sincerely to thank friends for their kind expressions of sympathy and for the beautiful floral offerings in our recent bereavement in losing our dear mother.—THE SAAD FAMILY.

Militarists in Berlin and Tokyo started this war, but the massed, angered forces of common humanity will finish it.

Ladies Auxiliary Canadian Legion Needs Funds

Money Needed in Order to Send Parcels to Local People in Armed Forces; Organizations Being Asked for Donations

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion are badly in need of funds with which to send parcels to the members of the armed forces both overseas and in Canada.

There are 97 men overseas not to mention the two hundred or more based in the Dominion. In addition approximately $80 is needed for postage and cotton with which to cover bundles.

Mrs. J. L. Lonsbury, secretary, reveals that an appeal has been sent to a number of organizations in town asking for donations. Already a few have replied promising $10 donations. Others no doubt will also donate something.

The Auxiliary is handicapped this year due to war restrictions. They cannot sponsor teas as in the past and since there have been no sporting events such as in the past years they have been unable to derive funds from that source.

Should any private individual wish to give a helping hand financially their contributions will be gratefully received by secretary Mrs. J. L. Lonsbury at her home on Second Street.

Words of Winston Churchill New Radio Feature

What makes the words of Winston Churchill famous? Is it the man who utters them, or the times, and circumstances in which they are uttered? The clue may be found in both. Churchill is a man of courage and principle, chosen to lead at a time when the world had been brought to the very brink of ruin by lack of courage and lack of principle.

Every Sunday evening, commencing October 3rd, a series of radio broadcasts will be made at 7:00 p.m., over CFAC, entitled "THE WORDS OF WINSTON CHURCHILL". Broadcasts feature the well-known columnist and commentator, Richard J. Needham, author of "One Man's Opinion" which appears daily, Monday to Friday in the Calgary Herald.

In this unique radio feature, sponsored by The Calgary Brewing & Malting Co. Ltd., makers of "Calgary" Ginger Ale, the most famous utterances of the British Prime Minister will be presented and discussed. They will be discussed as milestones in current history, as symbols of leadership by one of the world's great leaders, and—most important of all, perhaps—as the outward expression of the faith and determination of English-speaking people all over the world.

"The Words of Winston Churchill" will summarize, in a series of fifteen broadcasts, starting October 3rd, seven crowded years of defeat and victory, and will show the manner in which one man, because he symbolized the tolerance and dignity of his fellow-people changed the course of history.

LEAGUE presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

HAY FEVER TREATMENT

"Hay fever is not the harmless annoyance that we are prone to think it," Dr. R. F. Hughes of Hamilton, Ont., warns. In an article published in the Canadian Medical Association Journal he points out that hay fever not only causes loss of time but is frequently attended by complications. Experience indicates that the hay fever sufferer has at least a 50-50 chance of becoming asthmatic.

Army examining boards "take a very unfavorable view of it, especially when attended by complications," according to Dr. Hughes.

Reporting on 235 hay fever patients he saw in 1942, the physician tells of careful pollen tests made outdoors in Hamilton that year. Maple and elm pollens appeared first and they were followed by birch and pine. By the beginning of May many tree pollens were noted. Tree pollination stopped by the beginning of June. Grass pollen appeared a week after the tree pollen became general. There was little pollen in the air from the middle of July to the middle of August, but ragweed pollen, a chief cause of misfortune to the allergic, began August 9 and dominated the scene until September 27.

Of the 235 patients, 209 were affected by ragweed, 72 by grasses, 15 by trees, 85 by other inhalants and 31 by moulds. A number were sensitive to several pollens and had to be treated by several methods. Forty-eight per cent. had asthmatic complications.

Doctor Hughes counsels careful diagnosis by means of skin tests. Specific treatment is available to relieve the condition, not to cure it, and in a large percentage of cases good results are obtainable. Even those in whom the results are poor enjoy some measure of relief, it is indicated. Reaction to treatment suffered by some patients were due to accidental injection in a blood vessel or to dosage error, it is stated.

Treatment should be done before the pollen season, and most of the patients seen by Dr. Hughes sought help before they were affected in 1942. Plants which pollinate in the greatest abundance and which have the most toxic pollen as a rule make the greatest amount of treatment necessary. Ragweed is one of these.

Physicians should be able to promise relief in 80 to 90 per cent. of cases, as only a small percentage of patients resist treatment. Of the 235 patients seen by Dr. Hughes, 66 per cent. had satisfactory results and 27 per cent. had fair results.

African Natives Carry Heavy Articles On Their Heads

Chief Carpenter's Mate W. H. Blanding, 41, returned from service with a construction battalion in Africa, expressed great admiration for the cranial powers of the natives. He gave one a letter to mail. He put it on top of his head, placed a stone on it as a paper weight and carried it to the mail post. Then he gave him a 350-pound airplane engine, which he placed on his head, and without even a paper weight to keep it from blowing off, carried it four miles to its destination. Still another filled a navy wheelbarrow with dirt, placed the barrow, dirt and all on his head and carried it to the dump.

The Germans have removed from Belgium, it is reported, 1,200 locomotives, 500,000 freight cars, 750 passenger coaches and 625 miles of track. Rolling stock and engines still in service are in extremely poor condition.—Overseas News Agency.

The United States navy has come up with another headache for Hitler's undersea craft.

The new plane, officially designated as the PBJ, is a North American Mitchell medium bomber.

While changes in the plane remain a navy secret it is thought they will follow those made on other types of land planes.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 3

JESUS AND THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

Golden text: Think not that I came to destroy the law or the prophets: I came not to destroy, but to fulfil. Matthew 5:17.

Lesson: Matthew 5:17-20; 19:16-22; John 5:39, 40.

Devotional Reading: Matthew 7:21-27.

Explanations and Comments
Jesus Declares that the Commandments Must Be Kept, Matthew 5:17-20. "Think not that I came to destroy (set aside) the law or the prophets," Jesus said—knowing full well, of course, that the Pharisees would accuse him of just that; "I came not to destroy, but to fulfil."

Verses 20-48 are a series of illustrations of the way in which he would have the law and the prophets fulfilled—filled completely—for he would have his followers go much farther than the Old Testament law required. The law was right as far as it went, he held, but his followers must regard the spirit or the motive back of every act. Moses and the prophets only laid the firm foundation on which to build, for God's revelation to them was not final; he sent his Son to rear thereon a superstructure, a higher and fuller revelation of his will.

Jesus Declares That Keeping the Commandments Is Not Enough, Matthew 19:16-22. One day a young man of position and wealth who lived a moral life came to Jesus to ask him what good thing he should do to have eternal life. Jesus told him to keep the commandments, and he asked, "Which?" Jesus then specified the commandments which are concerned with the rights of another—his right to his life, his family, his property, his reputation. The young man claimed that he had always observed those commandments: "What lack I yet?" he questioned. He realized that the mere keeping of the commandments, the refraining from doing ill to another, was not enough; much more was required. Jesus counselled him to go and sell all his property, give the proceeds to the poor, and come and follow him. It was not of the poor that Jesus was thinking but the young man's soul. Ordinarily it would not be best for a wealthy man to give away all his property; rather should he manage it wisely and spend generously for the welfare of others. But for the young man whose wealth so possessed his soul that it kept him from God, it would have been wise to part with all of it.

"And thou shalt have treasure in heaven," added Jesus, "and come, follow me." Instead, the young man went away sorrowful; for he had great possessions.

The English Language

Will Be Much Better Known In Europe After War

When the war is over some 15,000 Czechoslovak citizens will return to their country equipped with a good command of the English language. There will be a similar return of English-speaking Poles, Dutchmen, Belgians, Frenchmen, Yugoslavs, Greeks and Norwegians. The English language will be better known on the Continent than at any time in its history. This will give us an opportunity which our diplomats and political and commercial leaders should be quick to seize.—Yorkshire Post.

British Teachers Going To Polish Schools After Country Is Freed
Arrangements are now being made for sending British school teachers to Polish schools and academies as soon as the country is freed. Already 50 teachers are in training, learning the language, studying the history of the country and its institutions. The British and Polish governments are supporting the scheme. The number of trainees is to be increased if the demand justifies an extension of the plan, which will later be adopted for other Axis-overrun countries.

Ben Jonathán

CHAPTER IV.

JONATHAN HALE turned away, striding in the direction of the barn behind his grandfather's cottage. Like a slithering snake, he applied himself to the chores about the little farm, striving to purge himself of the internal havoc created by the lips of Anne Jamieson.

That had been the first time in his life that Jonathan had ever kissed a girl, and he was troubled by the experience for hours. At length he quitted the barnyard for the house where he found Faith, her hands in a bowl of flour and her arms white to the elbows.

"Faith," he said, and it was the first time he had spoken all day, "I want you to kiss me."

The placidity of her face became disturbed. "But—Jonathan—" she stammered, "we are not married yet."

He caught her by the shoulders. "Kiss me, Faith," he said. "There's nothing wrong with it!"

She lifted her face obediently and touched her mouth against his. As he had done with Mistress Anne, Jonathan closed his arms about her. Faith's lips made a smacking sound. "There!" she laughed. "Is that what you want?"

Jonathan's arms fell away. The kiss of Faith had left him entirely unmoved. The contact had aroused within him none of the fire, none of the fierce joy aroused by Anne Jamieson.

"JONATHAN!" Grandfather Hale's voice boomed from the doorway. "What does this mean? Has that hussy left you bewitched? I saw you kiss her this morning. Now I find you embracing Faith. Can you not wait until she is your wife?"

Faith and I are not going to be married," said Jonathan, then added humbly: "I am sorry, Faith."

She stared at him humbly, her eyes blinking, once in perplexity. Thomas Hale's stooped shoulders straightened and he strode toward his grandson. "What did you say, Jonathan? Of course you are to wed Faith. That has been understood for years."

"No," the younger man shook his head. "I cannot live with her. Grandfather. We do not love each other."

"Love?" Hale barked. "What do you know of such poppycock?"

"I cannot hope to make you understand, Grandfather, but please do not be angry. I am going to London."

"London—the home of Belli!" Thomas Hale gasped, then composed himself enough to ask, "It is that actress, Jonathan?"

"Yes," nodded Jonathan. "I love her, Grandfather, and must go to her—where she is."

The grim, grey face contorted as with an inward spasm, yet Thomas Hale's voice was gentle when he spoke, placing a hand on Jonathan's arm. "My boy, rid yourself of this devil's enchantment that can end only in misery."

Jonathan moistened his lips as though about to speak, then his mouth set stubbornly and he remained silent.

THE argument of the grandfather continued. "Look, instead, at Faith. You will need a woman like her in Massachusetts. She will make a house for you, bear your children, feed you and keep you clean."

"I am not going to America," said Jonathan. "The farm is sold, I know, and all preparations made. You and Faith can board the ship without me. I am still of mind to go to London town."

The old Puritan flung Jonathan's arm away so violently that the gesture was almost a blow. "You shall come with us or starve! If you persist in this madness you shall not have a penny when you depart!"

"I want nothing from you, grandfather. I shall take with me only what is mine—my father's sword and my horse—the gelding purchased with money earned by myself."

Thomas Hale stepped back, flinging up his white-haired head. "Get ye gone, then!" he rasped.

No further word was spoken as Jonathan went into his room to belt the sword about his waist. When he reached the kitchen door on his way to the stable, Faith started. If to speak, but a warning sign from Hale silenced the girl. When Jonathan, on the saddle and bridled roan, turned toward the road, the grandfather was at the gate for a parting word.

"You can make the trip to London and back to Winnipeg in three days," said the old man. "That will still give you time to catch the boat from Southampton. I give you that long to learn that the smile of your painted lady will be brief when she finds you have no gold."

"You need not wait for me," said Jonathan. "Farewell, Grandfather. God be with thee."

THE vastness of London appalled Jonathan's provincial eyes. Where, in that maze of straight and crooked streets, among the buildings crowded so closely together, could he begin his search for Mistress Jamieson? His only clue was that she was a player of the theatre. The first thing to do, then, was locate himself at an inn and make inquiries.

A sign caught his eye—a grimed and weathered blotch of paint that could still be distinguished as letters: Ye Golden Hynde. Jonathan dismounted before the inn and hardly had his feet touched the ground when an ingratiating white-headed man at his elbow: "A penny for a poor man, sir?"

than, with a wrinkled face black with ingrained dirt. Jonathan dropped a shilling into the unwashed palm before he realized that he had broken his resolution to be as saving as possible with his few coins.

"Thankie, sir," The beggar tugged a greynish forelock and pocketed the shilling.

The inn of the Golden Hind dwarfed into insignificance the modest establishment of Master Knowles, the common room itself being vaster than the Winnest tavern. The place was filled with stale smoke and the sour smell of ale and wine. Many of the tables were occupied by both men and women, some eating and others busy with cards, dice and money.

The price of a room started Jonathan. A night's lodging and one full meal would consume his entire store of shillings. Nevertheless, he paid without a murmur, then ventured to question the landlord concerning the location of the various theatres.

Armed with the information, he set out, but at only one playhouse were the names of Mistress Jamieson and Monsieur Denys known, but no suggestions were proffered that would disclose the present whereabouts of the pair.

Abouts of the pair Jonathan was depressed when he returned to the Golden Hind.

THE morning found his time up at the inn and his pocket empty. But Jonathan was not the man to abandon a quest. The previous afternoon had given him a rudimentary knowledge of the city. He rode his horse until he found a livery and sold the gelding for a sum that would keep him in board and lodging for some time to come, then set out on foot once more, to hunt other theatres and make the customary inquiries.

At the end of the second day he had contacted all the theatres of importance and had been turned away with shakes of the head. Tired and footsore, he was on his way back to his dwelling-place when up ahead among the pedestrians, he sighted a familiar figure.

The street was dim with twilight and the shadows of the buildings, but there was no mistaking the dark-haired, velvet-doubled Monsieur Denys.

"Denys!" Jonathan shouted, darting forward. But the distance was too great for the little Frenchman to hear. A burly sailor refused to step aside for the running man and Jonathan had to slacken his pace to avoid a collision. By the time Jonathan had stepped around the sailor Denys was nowhere in sight.

LOWLY the young Puritan walked toward the spot where he had last seen the Frenchman. The street seemed vaguely familiar and he found himself standing before a building he recognized at once.

This was the Castle, the very first playhouse he had visited. And leaning against the closed door of the players' entrance was the same tight-lipped man who had turned Jonathan away the day before.

"Tardon me," Jonathan stepped forward. "Did Monsieur Denys enter this building?"

The doorman surveyed his questioner from head to foot. "Umm," he grunted, and spat. "So it's you again, be it? No, I told you yesterday there's no one in here."

"But—I saw him—small, dark man—"

"Can't help it," the other scowled. "This place is empty. If you go again I'll be just like calling me a liar."

Jonathan advanced another step. "Let me in. I must see for myself."

The fellow startled, blocking the doorway more effectively. "If you touch that latch," he warned. "I'll call the watch. I have my orders about covers like you."

Jonathan found his purse and extracted a coin. The doorman eyed the offering eagerly, and at last reached out and took it.

"Er—you won't cause any trouble? You'll go at once if they tell you to get out?"

Jonathan nodded, and the door was unlocked. The doorman led the way, up a rickety unlighted stairway, down a hall until he reached one of a series of doors.

Jonathan makes a proposal.

Clara (visiting railroad roundhouse)—What is that enormous thing?

Foreman—That is a locomotive boiler.

Clara—And why do you boll locomotives?

Foreman—To make the engine tender.

Woman—I always feel a lot better after a good cry.

Friend—So do I. It sort of gets things out of your system.

Woman—No, it doesn't get anything out of my system, but it does get things out of my husband.

First Doctor—That lawyer of mine has a nerve.

Second Doctor—Why so?

First Doctor—Listen to this item in his bill: "For waking up in the night and thinking over your case—$5.00."

"Why don't you get out and hustle? Hard work never killed anybody," said the philosophic gentleman to whom Rastus applied for a loan.

"You is mistaken dar, boss," replied Rastus. "The lost fowh wived dat way."

Diner: "What kind of pie have you today?"

Waitress: "We have three kinds—open-top, lattice-top, and kivered pie—but it's all apple."

Curious One: "Why do sailors wear such loose-fitting uniforms?"

Sailor: "Oh, that's to allow for shrinkage when we fall overboard."

Ethel: "But papa, he says he cannot live without me."

Father: "Tell him to think up a new one. I told that to your mother."

"These rock formations," explained the guide, "were piled up here by the glaciers."

"But where are the glaciers?" asked an old lady.

"They've gone back, madam, to get more rocks," said the guide.

"I hear your new lodger is a very impetuous fellow. Does everything in the heat of the moment?"

"Yes, it's his job. He's a blacksmith."

The movie usher was in the dentist's chair.

Dentist: "Now, Miss, which tooth is giving you all the trouble?"

Salads, Fowl Or Fish

What with Meatless Tuesdays and government orders restricting meat dishes to one choice a meal, dining car chefs, in their compact, rolling kitchens, are meeting the challenge with a wide variety of fish, including Pacific Coast salmon, cod and halibut; egg dishes of many kinds, and salads, both chicken and fresh vegetable.

Above, Chas. George Yacyn, who has been running on Canadian Pacific Railway diners out of Winnipeg for 26 years, hands veteran waiter Paul Sarhan two popular "meatless" favorites—aliced cold chicken with salad garnish, and the unique Lake Winnipeg goldeye, one of the most popular of fish. Veteran dining car men like George and Paul report that the Canadian public is giving "cheerful support" to the railways' efforts to co-operate fully with wartime food restrictions.

School Lunches

Inadequate Preparation Makes For Dullness

An American doctor recently made the following statement: "There can be no doubt that much dullness on the part of school children, particularly among the lower income groups, can be traced in part to a lack of the proper kind of food."

In the light of surveys made in this country in 1939-40, there seems no doubt that this statement applies equally to Canada.

With school days here again the problem of the child who has to carry his lunch to school looms large.

Dr. L. B. Pett of Nutrition Services says—"There are few community enterprises that pay better dividends in child health than a school lunch programme."

Where it is not possible to serve a complete lunch at school, Dr. Pett suggests that community groups, in co-operation with the local school board should give consideration to providing for a hot supplement to the lunch brought by the children from home. As examples of dishes which can be prepared with a minimum of equipment and labour, Dr. Pett suggests—hot cocoa, soup, baked potatoes, scrambled eggs, macaroni and cheese, or baked beans.

In many schools necessary equipment has been provided by the school board. The food may be supplied by each family in turn and the teacher supervises its preparation by the older children.

H.M.S. Victory

Nelson's Flagship Goes Through A German Blitz

A gaping hole, such as she never knew while flagship of Lord Nelson, is the proud scar H.M.S. Victory bears as proof that she shared in the war against Hitler as imperturbably as she did in the wars against Napoleon.

The Victory, a museum piece in Portsmouth docks, was bombed one night when German raiders attacked Portsmouth. A near miss blew away a large part of her under bow and blasted great chunks of debris onto her decks.

But the trim ship scarcely did more than shudder under the impact and still stands upright on the trestles built to keep her out of water. The hole remains, and probably will remain after the war, as an addition to her tourist lure.

A seaman who conducted a party about the ship approached the spot below deck where Nelson died and pointed to three wreaths placed there by officers of Allied navies—the Fighting French, the Netherlands and the Poles. He ended the tour in Nelson's quarters where autographs of pictures of two present-day admirals—Cunningham and Stark—adorn the polished tables.

Fall Clean-Up

Victory Garden Fall Clean-Up

Fall housecleaning and the Fall garden clean-up are almost due. Many insects, commonly found in vegetable gardens, pass the winter in different stages of their development, on or beneath piles of plant refuse left lying about by the untidy or innocent gardener. Among many such insects might be mentioned the tarnished plant bug, imported cabbage worms, flea beetles, striped cucumber beetles, cutworms and leafhoppers. To reduce infestation next year, all plant refuse should be gathered up and burned just as soon as the last crop of the year has been harvested.

To destroy insects which lay their eggs in the autumn on grass and weeds, cultivation of the garden should be continued until freeze-up. Too many gardeners allow the weeds to grow unchecked during the late summer and autumn. This not only reseedes the garden with undesirable, but affords suitable host plants upon which many insects will lay their eggs for spring hatching.

Clean up and destroy any insect cocoons or egg masses adhering to trees, shrubs, fences, buildings and garden furniture. The effect of all such practices will be reflected next season in the reduced insect population inhabiting the garden.

Would Have To Change
Japan As Cruel Aggressor Has Not Loyalty Of Oppressed Races

Japan's war lords would like to make the most of the "Yellow Peril" by recruiting Asia's millions into "a united army to vanquish the white race." The threat is not to be lightly dismissed and has often been appreciated by military strategists. Japan has, however, expanded in Asia, not as a friend, but as a cruel aggressor, and she would radically have to change her foreign policy to win the loyalty of those races she has oppressed.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Students Failed to Help Farmer

The scheme to have school students throughout the province travel to the grain fields and help the farmer harvest his grain has, to say the least, been a dismal failure as far as Coleman is concerned.

Few, if any, gave thought to helping with the harvest. Many spent the summer months on vacation, others worked their way into the local stores as truck drivers and helping the merchant with general duties. Now that the holiday season is over students are to be seen wandering aimlessly around the town with two weeks vacation still facing them. One high school student remarked this week she was getting tired of having nothing to do. It is doubtful that the government will authorize a similar period of summer vacation next year if the condition that exists in Coleman exists in many other towns and cities throughout the province.

Financial Safety Shelters

With the Allied offensive beginning to roll in every theatre of war, it is imperative that the individual citizen realize that to insure total victory on all fronts, his dollars must not only Speed the Victory in Asia and Europe, but wage a frontal attack on the home front against the battle of inflation.

Idle dollars, dollars that compete unnecessarily for scarce goods, dollars wasted on unessential purchases, are deterrents to victory, as well as traitors to their owners and spenders. Every available dollar should be invested in Victory Bonds and so drain the surplus money from the spending public and thus reduce the inflation pressure which threatens to devalue the pay envelope and the savings account.

Without the financial safety shelters provided by Victory Bonds prices would fly higher than the huge Fortresses flying over Europe and the raid on people's savings would be calamitous. Every dollar invested in Victory Bonds gives added safety to the dollar in the purse, savings, property and dollars previously used to buy Victory Bonds, and at the same time earns a higher rate of interest than any other investment of the same maturity with comparable security.

Old Age Pension Now $30 a Month

It was good news the aged people of the province heard this week when an official statement was made revealing that starting Sept. 1 old age pensioners would be given $30 monthly.

It has been truly said that governments move no faster than public opinion makes them. It appears that years of public agitation are needed on certain pieces of social legislation before the government condescends to give it a hearing and later put it into the record books as law.

Progress is being made on behalf of the old age pensioner, but there is still room for improvement. It is the duty of the federal government after this war to take up the matter of the "twenty years residence in Canada" clause with the British government in order to eliminate the injustice being done many aged people who have come to Canada late in life after having given the Mother Country the best years of their life. There shouldn't be any need of the twenty years clause. Are they not still British subjects, regardless of whether they reside on Canadian or other British soil?

Nazi Atrocities

On Sunday there is to be a public meeting protesting against the Nazi atrocities being committed against the women and children of Poland. Similar meetings are being held throughout the Dominion during the next two weeks. Such meetings can scarcely be expected to halt such atrocities on the part of the enemy, but will serve the purpose of bringing before Canadians the cold and tragic facts of how a conquered people are mistreated by an inhuman enemy.

We have seen on the screen and in the press the havoc wrought by German bombs on British and Russian cities, we have watched the awful scenes of human wretchedness left by the Germans when they have been forced to retreat by the Allies. It is doubtful if another race of people has incurred the deep-rooted hatred of their fellowmen as has the Germans. German atrocities act as a boomerang to their perpetrators. Instead of causing fear in the hearts of the Allied nations they only make the Allies the more determined to make themselves so much stronger and whip Germany so decisively that never again will she rise to create chaos throughout the civilized world.

I. C. S. Display In Big Corner Store

This week Mr. J. R. Torrance, superintendent of International Correspondence Schools, Canadian Ltd., with headquarters at Calgary, is having a display of the courses available to workers desiring to improve themselves in their present employment.

Courses are available in mining, electricity, drafting, radio, architecture, etc., and Mr. Torrance will be only too pleased to have interested parties call in at the big corner store and have a chat with him on the various courses.

One interesting feature of the display is the letter of J. S. D'Appolonia, which states that the writer (Mr. D'Appolonia) had found the course in architecture had exceeded his expectations and warmly recommends the ICS course to any persons interested in the building trade. There are three drafts on buildings, the work of Mr. D'Appolonia, also on display.

THEATRE NOTES

A thrilling adventure story of subs on the North Atlantic comes to the Palace screen this week end in the film entitled "Crash Dive" and starring Tyrone Power. It shows one of the inside of a sub, the torpedo being sent crashing into the side of a luckless ship and all the other dangers attendant to shipping during war time.

A short feature entitled "World in Action" is quite entertaining and the News Reel is another up-to-the-minute review of current war events.

At Cole's, Bellevue, this week end, is the highly praised film "Lady of Burlesque," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Michael O'Shea. It is based on Gipsy Rose Lee's book "G String Murders," and has been filmed as a musical comedy sensation.

At Blairmore this week end is a double feature. First is "Blondie's Blessed Event," which sees Dagwood have a fit when Blondie presents him with a brand new baby. The second feature is another western thriller, "Riders of the Badlands."

Girl Guide Notes

Our first parade of the season was held on Monday, Sept. 27. If you plan to attend Guides this Fall will you please come on next Monday, so that we can plan our year's work.

Our hike this year was rather "rained out" but it was good while it lasted! Several of the girls were able to complete their "Outdoor Cooking" badge—and the Company came out on top by one knife. If anyone has missed the hike since our trip will they please get in touch with the captain? It is a good knife, and we feel sure someone must be looking for it.

Badge work has been going ahead this summer, and we hope to have a few for presentation at Christmas time, instead of holding them all until June—Louise Aboussey won her Pioneer's Badge at a Ranger camp, held near Calgary, and several other badges are nearing completion.

When it comes to saving coal—Patriotism and common sense go hand in hand

FARSIGHTED householders are seeing the urgent need of preparing their homes now against this winter's coal shortage. They are acting now!

HEATING SYSTEMS MUST BE EFFICIENT: HOMES SHOULD BE ADEQUATELY INSULATED.

Here are some jobs you should be doing NOW!

- 1 Have your entire heating system inspected. Order necessary repairs.
- 2 Have your furnace thoroughly cleaned by a competent man. Insulate furnace and pipes where necessary.
- 3 Be sure that you have sufficient storm windows and that all windows and doors fit tightly. Have cracks in walls repaired. Weatherstrip wherever it is necessary. Consider seriously the insulation of ceiling and walls.

Many homes waste as much as 60% of their fuel through inefficient heating equipment, inadequate insulation and other heat losses. Winter is just around the corner. Prepare NOW!

WEDDINGS

HARDY-PRICE

Saturday evening, September 25, at 5 p.m. in the Bellevue United church, the Rev. Irwin united in marriage Gertrude Audrey, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Price, and Henry Williams, son of Mrs. Hardy, of Coleman. The lovely bride entered the church on her father's arm to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. Nora Laithwaite, of Coleman. Her gown was white tulle over satin with a lace bolero, and her long veil was held in place by a wreath of white roses. She also wore long lace mittens, and on her shoulder was pinned a spray of orange blossoms that had been worn on her brother's tunic at his wedding in England a few months ago. Her bouquet was of pink roses and Bavaria and she wore a gold locket, the gift of the groom.

The Misses Beta Gatto and Wanda Dase were bridesmaids, one wore pale blue net over satin and matching flowers in her hair, and one wore pale pink sheer and flowers in her hair. Both carried bouquets of pink carnations and wore gold bracelets, also gifts from the groom. Little Vera Cyr, of Pincher Creek, niece of the groom, made a lovely flower girl and wore a pale yellow taffeta dress.

John Hamer, of Coleman, acted as best man, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Irwin sang most beautifully "I Love You Truly."

The bride's mother wore a black and white ensemble and hat to match and wore a pink corsage. The groom's mother wore air force blue with matching accessories and wore a corsage of talisman roses.

At the reception which followed at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's table was covered with a beautiful lace tablecloth and was centered with a three tiered wedding cake. Carnations and baby mums also adorned the table.

Mayor Enoch Williams, of Blairmore, proposed a toast to the King, and Rev. Irwin proposed the bride's toast, the groom ably responding.

The happy young couple will reside in Coleman where the groom is employed.

LOTHIAN-GOLIA

Macleod Presbyterian church was the scene recently of a pretty ceremony which united Josephine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Golia, of Brocket, and George Lothian, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Phillips, Coleman. Rev. H. A. Howick officiated, and wedding music was played by Mrs. G. H. Wetherup, of Macleod, with the bride's sister, Mrs. Anna T. Burchak, of Lethbridge, singing the hymn, "Give Me Thy Heart."

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, was in white rayon sheer over taffeta, and wore a full-length veil with halo wreath caught by orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of pale pink gladioli and maidenhair fern. All gowned in pale blue, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Julia Golia, and two bridesmaids, Miss Rose Palmarchuk, of Lethbridge, and Miss Lena Orch, of Brocket. Little Rose Orch, in pink, was flower girl, having as escort the bride's brother, Master Lawrence Golia. Mr. Allan Phillips was best man, and ushers were Messrs. Nick Golia and John Orch, of Brocket, and Joe Lothian, of Coleman.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Brocket, when those receiving with the bridal party were relatives from Lethbridge, including Mr. and Mrs. Burchak, Mr. and Mrs. M. Golia and Mrs. J. Hall. Out-of-town guests were present from Lethbridge, Calgary, Spring Coulee, Coleman and Camrose, as well as those from Macleod and Brocket. Mr. and Mrs. George Lothian will reside in Coleman.

DUNFORD-JOHNSON

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Alban's Anglican church, Coleman, at 11 a.m. Monday, Sept. 27, when Florence Agnes Johnson was united in marriage with Gordon Dunford.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. R. Hague in the presence of a few intimate friends of the young couple. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Johnson, of Coleman, was attended by her sister, Viola, while the groom was attended by his brother Frank. Mr. and Mrs. Dunford will make their home in Coleman, where the groom is employed.

Young Girls Collect For Milk For Britain Fund

Two little girls, Joan Lloyd and Aline Fauville, took time out from play this week to help their less fortunate little friends in Britain. The two girls got hold of a pint milk bottle and went to their neighbors doors on second street east asking for donations to the Milk For Britain fund. After soliciting that neighborhood they walked to Grafton town where they received more donations. Their efforts netted $6 in collection and late Monday afternoon they took the money down to the Coleman Cash Grocery store where they emptied their money into the Fund Milk bottle. Congratulations on your fine effort, girls.

NEW SCHEDULE PRESERVES RATIONING

EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 30, 1943

Preserves rationing gives the consumer a number of choices both of products and sizes of containers. Because of the wide range of container sizes and the variation in buying habits across the country it was necessary to put the system into operation and then make adjustments on the basis of experience.

Now that preserves rationing has been in effect for several weeks, it is possible to make some increases in coupon values. The new schedule is announced below and is effective September 30th.

The new doubled ration allowances for molasses, extracted and comb honey will enable consumers in areas where consumption of these products is heavy, to buy more and still leave enough for districts where the total demand is light.

The increased ration allowances for corn, cane and blended table syrups and maple syrup are adjusted to bring coupon values more closely into line with the great variety of container sizes now in use.

ONE "D" COUPON IS GOOD FOR Not More Than

Jams, Jellies, Marmalades, Maple Butter, Apple Butter or Honey Butter - - -	6 FLUID OZ.
or
Comb Honey (in Squares) - - - - -	One Standard Section
or
Cut Comb Honey - - - - -	1 LB. NET
or
Extracted Honey or Maple Syrup - - -	12 FLUID OZ. (1 LB. NET)
or
Maple Sugar - - - - -	½ LB. NET
or
Molasses - - - - -	20 FLUID OZ. (1 PINT)
or
Corn Syrup, Cane Syrup, or any Blended Table Syrup - - - - -	14 FLUID OZ.
or
Canned Fruit - - - - -	10 FLUID OZ.
or
Sugar - - - - -	½ LB. NET

Coupons D-4 and D-5

NOW BECOME VALID SEPTEMBER 30th

The validity date of these coupons has been moved forward from the original October 14th to September 30th.

This has been done to accommodate purchasers of some items which at this season of the year are normally bought in large units.

Coupons D-6 and D-7 will become valid on November 11th and the original schedule will be continued from then on, with two coupons becoming valid every four weeks.

RATION ADMINISTRATION

THE WARTIME PRICES AND TRADE BOARD

Basic English

PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL in a recent address delivered at Harvard University, referred to basic English as the possible international language of the future. Since that time there has been considerable public interest in this possibility, and it has been the subject of much discussion. Devised principally by C. K. Ogden, director of the Orthological Institute at Cambridge, England, and Ivor A. Richards, now of Harvard University, basic English is an extremely simplified form of English, as we speak it. Our language is said to include some 20,000 words, while basic English has only 850. Of these, 600 are nouns, 18 are verbs and the remainder are made up of adjectives, pronouns and the other parts of speech. In it, everything connected with everyday existence may be expressed, yet as Mr. Churchill pointed out, the whole vocabulary can be put down on one side of a single sheet of paper. The rules of grammar are correspondingly simple, and we are told that an average person can master basic English by devoting two hours of study to it, each day for a month.

English Widely Used Today

The idea of an international, or auxiliary language, is not a new one, and there have, in the past, been other suggestions in this regard. In the Middle Ages, Latin was the universal language of the educated people, and in later times French was the accepted language for diplomatic purposes. There has, however, been a growing tendency towards the use of English as a common language when different nationalities meet, and situations arising out of the present war have increased this trend. During the past few years Britain and this continent have become the home of many thousands of people from the oppressed countries of Europe, and it has been necessary for them to master some English, in order to carry on dealings with those about them. In Europe itself, many people have studied English in order to be able to understand the English radio broadcasts, bringing them news of the outside world.

May Make For A Lasting Peace

The planning of an international language at this time, is being done with the hope that it may be an important factor in the creation of better understanding between nations in the years to come. The fact that English is the basis of this language, is due no doubt in part to the fact that Anglo-Saxon nations will have an important part to take in the building up of a world-wide structure for lasting peace in the future. Another consideration is the fact that more than 200,000,000 people speak English as their mother-tongue. The only larger group speaking one language is the Chinese, who number 400,000,000. In many parts of the world, English is already taught in the schools, and plans are now underway to teach it as the "second language" in all the schools of the liberated countries. The lands where English is spoken have been the cradles of much of the social and moral progress of the human race, and it is to be hoped that as it spreads, so may the principles and ideals which it has expressed.

After the hard work you spent this summer on your victory gardens, you will want to be certain that the resulting vegetables will not perish before they are eaten. Storage of the garden produce in the home can be relatively easy if a few simple rules are carefully followed.

For a storage room—any part of the cellar with a window leading directly outside may be used. If you have a concrete floor, cover it with sand and sprinkle water occasionally to maintain the proper moisture content of the air. This room will need walls that are well insulated and a well fitted door to provide an even temperature. Containers for the vegetables should be constructed against the outside walls and have slatted sides and bottoms to provide for ventilation.

White wash used on the walls makes for a sanitary room and annually a solution of approximately 1/4 lb. of copper sulphate to 1 gallon of water can be used as a cleanser and disinfectant. Of course you will need a good thermometer.

You must take great care in grading and sorting the garden produce if you want to eliminate decay. The fruits and vegetables should be fully mature, clean and dry, free from damage caused by insects, disease, rough handling, freezing and chilling. During the winter you must sort the produce regularly and remove any defective specimens as they will contaminate the sound stock.

Root produce such as beets, carrots, parsnips, salsify, turnips keep best at 35 to 38 degrees F. and in some potatoes need the same temperature but should be placed in crates allowing good ventilation. If you wish to keep tomatoes, wrap each green tomato separately and place in a closed box. When you are storing apples be sure they are free from bruises and broken skins. They should be placed in wooden bushel crates to allow for air circulation at approximately 33 to 38 degrees F. with a humidity of from 88-95%.

For more detailed information on the storage of fruits and vegetables write to the Western Division Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, for Household Storage of Fruits and Vegetables.

Secret Weapons

German Science In This War Has Been A Flop

Hitler and his stooge Goebbels have been talking again about some new "secret weapon." Something that is going to stop bombs falling on the Ruhr and Berlin and turn the war scales in Germany's favor.

Time was when this sort of talk was a bit frightening. Now it's no more terrifying than a stuffed lion. Hitler first used the "secret weapon" threat in a speech at the Berlin Sports Palace a few days before the war. Yet when he attacked Poland he had nothing more than his Luftwaffe and his tanks. He used the threat again later on, but this time it was merely his magnetic mine, a device that the Allies mastered so quickly it has not been heard of since.

The truth is that German science in this war has been something of a flop. It has produced good weapons, good planes and good tanks, but nothing that Allied research men and engineers haven't equalled or surpassed. Radar, one of the most potent of the war's inventions, is an Allied product.

Hitler's latest "secret weapon" announced solemnly by a Wilhelmstrasse spokesman last week—is said to be in the category of bombs that will be believed when it is seen and heard in action—and that we imagine goes for the disillusioned German public as well as for ourselves.—Ottawa Journal.

Cannot Be Destroyed

Every Person Can Be Definitely Identified By Finger Prints

"Every living human being carries on his fingertips a signature that is definitely and legally his own," says John J. Floherty in his book, "Inside The F.B.I." ("It is as authentic as the signature of the President of the United States on a state document. It singles him out from his fellow men as clearly as if he bore an indelible number on his forehead. This characteristic autograph cannot be forged nor changed, nor can it be permanently destroyed except by amputation.")

"This highly personalized signature consists of ten characters. They appear one on each bulb on the inside of the first joints of fingers and thumbs. In the process of fingerprinting all ten fingers are recorded, although a print from any one of them can prove the identity of the person from whom it came. Certain kinds of work like stone masonry or dish-washing may wear down the ridges and make the pattern less distinct, but a short period of idleness or a change of vocation restores them to normal."

PROBLEMS ARE PROOF

According to a London doctor, maturity is at its best between the ages of 11 and 14. And, says the Ottawa Citizen, if dad doesn't believe it, let him try some of the problems Willie polished off in his entrance exams.

Famous March Origin

Composer Got His Idea While Playing Game Of Golf

The national anthem of the United States is not a march tune, but Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" might be called the universal march of the United States Army. The national anthem of the United Kingdom is not a march tune either, and while each British regiment has its own march, popular vote would almost undoubtedly place "Colonel Bogey" in the corresponding position to "Stars and Stripes." Several million men joined the British and Empire infantry during the last war, and almost every man Jack of them at some time or other marched to the swing of this sparkling, lively tune, which brought vigor back to tired limbs although there is nothing patriotically stirring about the title, which vaguely suggests something to do with golf.

And it has, for it was on a golf course that the germ of the tune originated.

According to the music sheet the composer is Kenneth J. Alford, but that is just the name under which Major F. J. Ricketts, director of music of the Plymouth division of the Royal Marines publishes his marches. One day the composer was walking across a golf course when one of the golfers whistled to him as a warning to get out of the way. It was only two notes a minor third apart. Ricketts whistled the same two notes back a tone lower. Later he met the golfer in the clubhouse, and recalling their exchange of whistling he put them together and improvised a theme, which, roughly at that moment was the first section of the march. Subsequently at home he played it over to his wife who advised him to develop the theme, which he did, the result being the most famous march in the British Army—"Colonel Bogey"—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

A Great Man

Livingstone Won Loyalty Of African Natives By His Kindness

Margery Perham in a B.B.C. talk said: "Livingstone believed in courtesy and gentleness even with savages. It worked. For about thirty years he travelled, generally alone, mostly ill-equipped, usually the first white man these primitive tribes had seen—and yet, when he died, it was not from an arrow or a spear but from dysentery, far away from any white man. And his African servants embalmed his body and carried it on their own heavy decision for nine months through 1,500 miles of savage bush and tribes to the coast. And three of them saw it brought home to Westminster Abbey and buried there. Livingstone was a great man. He was great in what he did—in the lonely courage with which he struggled on, sick and footsore through unhealthy Central Africa, right through what's now Rhodesia, and Nyassaland, the Belgian Congo and Tanganyika. But he was great too in his words and writings, and in the great call his life made to the British people, not to stop at the coast but to go right on into Africa and put down the slave trade there and bring in Christianity and civilization. There were explorers before him. But Livingstone called not only to men's sense of adventure or desire for commerce, but to their compassion and their Christianity."

FAST TRAVEL

If trans-Atlantic airplane speeds ever reach 720 miles an hour, the flying time between the United States and Great Britain would be about five hours. Allowing for five hours' difference between Eastern Standard and British time, this means that a passenger who left London at noon would still find it noon when he arrived in New York—New York Times.

Our Boys And Girls On Active Service

(By Ottawa Observer)

THE Canadian premiere of "Meet The Navy" in Ottawa was a knock-out, playing to dandy and enthusiastic crowds. The sailors and Wrens in the cast, day after day to take a back seat to any of the wartime entertainment outfits, and the show really is going to please everyone in Canada who gets the opportunity to see it. Watch for dates out your way and if you happen to be near a centre getting it, take a tip, try and make it. Swell entertainment, I call it.

Westerners, many, many of them, know the officer commanding the new Canadian War Staff Course, Junior Wing, starting at Kingston. He is none other than Lt.-Col. W. A. Cripps, whose home is at Saskatoon. A graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, he was officer commanding the 16-22nd Saskatchewan Horse, now overseas as a tank regiment, and which has among its personnel men from northern and southern Saskatchewan.

Canada's newest escort vessel, H.M.C.S. "Sault Ste. Marie" now on active service, playing the restless and dangerous waves of the North Atlantic, has among its complement men from all parts of the province. They always seem to get jobs of praise from naval headquarters for taking to navy life like a duck to water. Among the lads on this vessel include Cook Jim Aylong, of Camrose, Alberta; Stoker Petty Officer Robert Kettwell, of Prince Albert, S.D.C. and Bar, and George Gagnon, Man, and Clarence Johnson of Simmie, Sask. The latter just a few years ago saw new more about a sailor than a ship, never having seen one except in pictures.

Sgt. Lieut. Margaret Mackie of Victoria, B.C., of the Wrens, who was in charge of the first batch of them to go overseas recently, and which included a lot of young girls, was living in Britain when war broke out. She came over to Canada and helped looked after some 500 British refugee children on the way to the U.S. She was going back, looking after a gang of Wrens, but says it was an easier job than looking after the youngsters.

Some of your sons from out on the prairies have "rode the skies" over Germany and Occupied Europe with Wing Commander "Moose" Fumerton, D.F.C. and Bar, ace pilot of the Royal Canadian Air Force, and a fellow all Canadians should be proud of. It is interesting to know that this really airman once, when a younger fellow, assisted Dr. Joseph Rott, the eminent geologist who discovered an iron ore lode in Labrador. It was a good reading, a story on what the eminent lads in our services did in civilian life.

That was a solemn warning, in the light of our fighting in Italy and the shape of things to come, which was uttered in a speech by Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., at Windsor, just recently, when he said: "The British Commonwealth Air Training Plan must not fail for lack of men to keep it going."

Among those decorated for acts of bravery in the R.C.A.P. in recent lists announced, were Pilot Officer H. H. Richardson, D.F.C. and Bar, and a pretty town which has such a beautiful approach winding through a gorgeous valley. Also Lt. McMillan, of Regina, who was very brave in the line in the shade of one of the big "hills" of the Rockies. Both got Distinguished Flying Medals and the citations indicated the boys earned them.

When the H.M.C.S. "Fraser" went down off Bordeaux, France, in June, 1940, there were many brave boys who made the supreme sacrifice helping in that epic evacuation. The commander of that ship was Capt. John B. C. Cripps, who was in the service in the Royal Canadian Navy. He has now been named Assistant Chief of the Naval Staff. He's a native of Vancouver, but well known to westerners. His son, a sub-lieutenant in the navy, also did valiant service at Malta when that island won the George Cross.

The great deeds and heroisms of our Canadian Army in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns are yet kept in the background while the fighting is at its height. From time to time, these columns should have information available which will allow us to mention some of the outstanding western lads.

The largest warship ever built in Canada, the "Mimac" was launched in Halifax, Sept. 18. Canadian manufacturers provided most of the finished materials which have gone into her, many never before made in Canada. Canadian workmen fashioned her under the close supervision of experts from the Clyde and other famous British shipbuilding centres. Until her actual commissioning she was under the name of "H.M.C.S. 12". As soon as she has been christened, the keel of a sister warship will be laid along the same slipways.

TONS OF WATER
Somebody has figured that previous to the dehydration of food shipped to England from this Continent we had shipped three million tons of water in food crossing the Atlantic.

Cincinnati was widely known as "Porkopolis" before the Civil War because of its extensive pork packing industry. 2535

His function will be to foster the spirit of co-operation between employees and management and to assist the employees in the development of co-operative committees. U.S. Sailors In Britain

Occupy Hotel In Cardiff Under Lease-Release Arrangement

Among hundreds of buildings, from vast dockside warehouses to some of the staidest homes of Britain turned over to the U.S. authorities in Britain under lease-release in reverse, is a hotel in Cardiff.

In peacetime, solid, big and comfortable, it was a pillar of the commercial life of this busy port. Today the inside is little changed, but for glistening new paint or doors and wainscots, the homely touch of flowers in reception rooms and bedrooms, and amusements like snooker and table tennis equipment which no hotel guest would have dreamed of looking for. But outside Old Glory waves to men of the U.S. merchant fleet. Men of all ranks come in search of good beds, food, medical treatment, a party, or maybe just a drink, and find it here.

Britain requisitioned and conditioned this hotel, fully furnished, to the requirements of the U.S. War Shipping Administration. Reverse lease-release will pay the rent and take care of running repairs indefinitely. This club can sleep 60 men and is one of several operated in United Kingdom ports by the United States Service and the War Shipping Administration.

There's a bar that serves beer and coca-cola. American coffee is on tap, and the British civilian staff of five men and 15 women is getting adept at producing American dishes and at talking in American. The club is just one of many goods and services, including docking facilities and ship repairs, and coal and petroleum supplies at many ports through the world, which Britain is providing for her sea-going ally wherever she can, and lease-release in reverse makes for plain sailing.

LEARNING NEW WORDS

Catering for American troops in Britain has meant learning a lot of new words. The manager of a restaurant much used by Americans says that he and his staff are becoming quite used to serving crackers when asked for biscuits and serving syrup, treacle, or honey (when available) as our nearest approach to molasses.

The serving of marmalade with, instead of after, the bacon, kipper or other savoury dish ordered for breakfast is also becoming a habit.—Daily Sketch (London).

Over-Bleaching

Find That Textile Loss Through Bleaches Is Proved Great

According to experiment carried out in the Laundry and Dry Cleaning Laboratory of the National Research Council, Ottawa, the misuse of Javelle water, or sodium hypochlorite solution, as it is known to scientists, is the cause of a great annual loss of textiles.

Laundry experts have been trying for years to eliminate over-bleaching with its resultant deterioration of fabric.

Prolonged rubbing of a stain may weaken the fibres of a fabric, therefore, when stains become difficult to remove, bleach is often necessary. Bleach should only be used when other efforts are unsuccessful and then in the proper solution and never at boiling temperature. To use less than the amount given in manufacturers' instructions is better than to use more. Often directions accompanying bleaches call for the use of more than is really safe for the fabric.

LEARN TO WEAVE AND MAKE LOVELY THINGS

Make A Basket

How useful your hands can be and how artistic if you train them! You could weave a strong useful basket as pictured above, or perhaps a lovely paste cloth for a gown, or maybe a smart rug.

Weaving is an art that has been considerably revived in recent years. Particularly since the war began, people are reverting back to making their own materials because of a scarcity of the finer wools on the market.

Fingers are rediscovering weaving as a pleasant and useful pastime. Not so many years ago it was a necessary skill in the home. With the development of industrial machinery the craft was taken from the home. Years have passed, and war has brought everything back, has brought it back to the home again.

If you want to learn how to weave, our 32-page booklet will help you greatly. It tells you what materials you need and then explains clearly how to weave various articles from rugs to baskets.

The booklet avoids the complex. It tells what can be done on the more advanced looms but it really gets down to cases with such simple looms as piece of cardboard, embroidery hoops, breadboards.

Send 1c in coins for your copy of "How To Weave Useful Novelties" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

PLANS DESIGNED TO POPULATE THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST AND TO EXPAND IT INDUSTRIALLY

EDMONTON.—Detailed plans for permanent settlement in the Canadian northwest, designed to populate the north and expand it industrially and economically, have been drawn up for the guidance of prospective settlers.

Government and railway officials here have been swamped by thousands of inquiries from American military and civilian workers now in the north who plan permanent settlement after the war. Many other inquiries have come from Canadian workers in other parts of the Dominion.

Announcement was made in Edmonton by E. S. Gorton, western superintendent of the Canadian National Railways department of colonization and agriculture, that his company, along with the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Alberta and British Columbia governments, is launching a campaign to acquaint wartime residents in the north how to settle here permanently.

Details, with maps and information on Alberta, B.C., Mackenzie River Basin, and the country around the Alaska highway, have been prepared and will be ready for distribution within a week or so, Mr. Gorton said.

The pamphlets are being printed by the King's printer in B.C. Copies of the pamphlets is being shared by the B.C. and Alberta governments. The two railways will share the cost of distribution.

Distribution will be carried on in the north with the co-operation of U.S. military authorities. They also will be sent through the railway agencies in the United States to American workers who have been north and now have returned home.

"We took the action because we see great possibilities for Alberta and British Columbia and the settlement and development of the north country. Anyone wanting information, intending to settle here, will be able to get full details from authorized sources, and won't fall prey to ruthless land speculators," Mr. Gorton said.

Tentative plans were laid at a meeting in Edmonton this spring attended by Premier E. C. Manning, W. D. King, deputy minister of trade and industry, representatives of the B.C. government, the C.N.R. and C.P.R., and the Edmonton chamber of commerce.

IMPROVING ROAD
EDMONTON.—Hon. W. A. Fallow, Alberta minister of public works, said preliminary work has been started on a $40,000 road improvement program of a 16-mile stretch of the Meridian highway on the Alberta-Saskatchewan border. Mr. Fallow said the Saskatchewan government will pay half the cost of the program.

LONGEST STAGE MAIL ROUTE IN THE WORLD NOW OPENED ON THE ALASKAN HIGHWAY

DAWSON CREEK, B.C.—Described as the longest stage mail route in the world, the 1,000-mile overland postal service from this southern supply base on the Alaska highway to Whitehorse, Y.T., has been inaugurated here. The service will be on a daily schedule, northbound and southbound.

United States army postal trucks, carrying five tons of letters and parcels for Canadian and American highway workers and residents of towns and construction camps along the route, started on the long trek. Before the 72-hour trip is completed, the trucks will climb two mountain ranges and plough through muskeg to get the mail through.

Thirteen stops, each about 90 miles apart, will be made at various Canadian civilian and U.S. army post offices.

NEW RULING

Has Been Issued In Regard To Retreading Of Tires

OTTAWA.—Munitions Minister Howe announced that all passenger car owners now may have their tires retreaded without a tire ration permit. The new order does not affect the conditions governing the sale of new tires for essential passenger cars. Applicants must continue to certify that their tires or tubes are completely unusable and cannot possibly be repaired and kept in service.

Reclaim rubber, which is made from old tires and tubes, is used primarily for mixing with other rubber in making military or essential vehicle tires. Small quantities, however, now can be diverted to the retreading of passenger car tires, the minister said.

"The collection of old tires and tubes must continue if we are to satisfy present and future demands for reclaim rubber," said A. H. Williamson, rubber controller.

Navy Minister Macdonald Warns Against Revival Of Nazi Attacks

SAINT JOHN, N.B.—Warning of a revival of German submarine attacks was given in an interview by Navy Minister Macdonald.

"The enemy still has several hundred U-boats and they will come out again," he asserted. "They got a terrible drubbing in May, June and July when we sank them almost at the rate of one a day, but we haven't sunk them all."

"Although the campaign against the U-boats is most gratifying, don't think that it is over. The enemy is always improving his vessels, and although his morale is badly shaken, he will come out again."

British Tanker Has Sailed 243,000 Miles Since War Started

LONDON.—The crew of the 12,000-ton tanker British Confidence believe their slow but sure ship is a record-breaker—since the war started, she has plodded over 243,000 miles of ocean, more than the distance between the earth and the moon.

To load and discharge her vital cargoes of gasoline, she has berthed in 15 countries, including Australia, Malaya, India, Ceylon, North Africa and the United States.

LIBERATED PRISONERS

LONDON.—The Morocco radio said 20,000 British and American prisoners had been liberated by the Italians and have joined Italian patriots despite Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's offer of 1,500 lire reward for each prisoner handed over to the Germans. The Morocco broadcast added that recently 3,000 prisoners crossed into Switzerland.

STAFF COLLEGE

Is To Be Opened In Toronto For Royal Canadian Air Force

TORONTO.—Canada's first air staff college, modelled closely after the R.A.F. staff college established in England in 1920, will be officially opened here Oct. 4, it was announced.

The college will perform much the same function for the R.C.A.F. as the Canadian junior war staff course at Kingston, Ont., does for the army, providing administrative training for selected Canadian airmen.

Doctor Says Penicillin Saved Sight Of An Airman's Eye

MONTREAL.—The new wonder drug, penicillin, has saved the sight of an airman's eye at the nearby Lachine manning depot of the Royal Canadian Air Force, it was revealed here.

The 31-year-old airman had lost complete vision of his eye when the drug arrived after being flown from the Banting institute in Toronto. Treatment was started immediately.

After 10 days, the eye was completely normal, an R.C.A.F. doctor reported.

Stage Soldier Show

There was nothing small time about the talent that went into "Rookies Play Hooky", soldier show staged by troops in training at the Basic Training Centre at Vernon, B.C. Three of the stars, who wrote, produced and staged the production, are shown above. Left to right they're Lance Corporal Douglas Montgomery, star of the screen version of "Little Man What Now" and many other Broadway and Hollywood productions, Lance Corporal Dick Meener, well-known Vancouver radio personality and pianist, and Corporal Gilchrist Stuart, English born actor who appeared in "A Yank In The R.A.F." and other pictures. Talent came right from the ranks, with the assistance of a group of comely Vernon dancers and singers and the production played to both civilian and khaki audiences in the area.

The democracies "reserve the right to treat as invalid any transfer to neutral ownership of any enemy-owned rights or interests in property in Italy," said the statement from the state department.

India Trying To Introduce Food Ration Plan For Cities

NEW DELHI.—With the death toll from starvation sometimes exceeding 50 a day in Calcutta alone, India's food grains committee put forward a new rationing plan designed to bring some degree of remedy if it can get 11 provinces and a score or more of big states to agree.

Food rationing in all of India's several score of cities of more than 100,000 population is proposed in the new plan, which also calls for an increase in supplies, principally by the importation of at least 1,500,000 tons of grain during the current year.

NEW YORK.—The seat of the new Republican Fascist government set up under the premiership of Benito Mussolini is to be established temporarily in southern Germany because of war hazards in Italian territory, the Berlin radio said.

DUNKIRK VETERAN SAYS NAZI RESISTANCE IN FRANCE COULD BE BROKEN BY STRONG ASSAULT

LONDON.—Commander Redvers Prior, Conservative member of parliament for Aston and a veteran of Dunkirk and two Allied raids on German-occupied Europe, stirred the House of Commons when he said the Nazi fortifications in France are "very strong" but could be "assaulted and breached by a determined assault, well-organized."

Prior, who took in the combined operations raid on St. Nazaire and the reconnaissance in force at Dieppe, referred to his part in these attacks when he said: "I had the good fortune to inspect a portion of Hitler's West Wall."

"If the government will give us assault forces for our tasks we'll give you victories," he declared.

"The Nazi has very bad nerves. During our assault on St. Nazaire a French officer in that town told me hundreds of Nazis were giving themselves up to the French in the interior of Brittany and in his opinion 10,000 men could have broken through and chased them out of the Breist peninsula."

OTTAWA.—Finance Minister Ilesley announced that Canada's Fifth Victory Loan, opening Oct. 18 with a minimum objective of $1,200,000,000, will be in two maturities—a 15-year-and-two-months issue and a three-year-and-six-months issue.

He said the new bonds will mature as follows:

An issue bearing interest at three per cent. offered at a price of 100 per cent. and maturing at 100 Jan. 1, 1959, and a shorter term issue bearing interest at 1 1/2 per cent. at a price of 100 per cent. and maturing at 100 May 1, 1947; both types of bonds will be dated Nov. 1, 1943.

The bonds will be similar to those of previous loans except that the first interest coupon on the three per cent. bonds will be for a period of eight months, with coupons becoming due every six months thereafter. The reason for this is that the large volume of coupons due in May and November to millions of holders is creating a heavy task which, to some degree, will be lightened by the change of interest dates to January and July.

Mr. Ilesley emphasized that holders of Dominion of Canada bonds due and payable at par Oct. 15, 1943, and holders of four per cent. bonds due Oct. 15, 1945, which have been called for payment at par on Oct. 15, 1943, will be able to convert their holdings of those bonds into Fifth Victory Loan issues.

Bonds of these two issues will be taken in payment for Fifth Victory Loan bonds at a price of 100%.

"The loan is not just another financial step in a series—it is a great blow to be struck at a powerful enemy by Canadians at home," Mr. Ilesley said.

"I urge Canadians to buy Fifth Victory Loan bonds to the utmost of their ability so that we may truly achieve the slogan of the loan—'Speed the Victory.'"

The new loan will have a minimum objective for individuals of $25,000,000.

Dieppe raid in August, 1942, and was there six months before returning to Britain. He obtained much information while posing as a French workman—and 40 pounds in weight.

In an interview following his speech in commons, Prior said, he landed on the Dieppe beaches with the Canadians and stayed behind because I considered it my duty to do so."

"I helped Col. Merritt (Lt.-Col. C. C. I. Merritt of Vancouver and Belleville, Ont.), who led the South Saskatchewan regiment and won the Victoria Cross, to organize the rear-guard," he said.

(Col. Merritt remained behind as a prisoner of war.)

"I got away from the Germans within a week—I must not say how. I speak French pretty fluently and I managed to get my disguise—a black beret, overalls and boots—from a French workman who did all he could to help me."

CANADIAN NAVY

Will Obtain Six Destroyers From Britain This Year

SAINT JOHN, N.B.—Announcement that the Royal Canadian Navy will obtain six destroyers from Great Britain this year, two cruisers from the same source next year, and possibly aircraft-carrying vessels as well, was made here by Navy Minister Macdonald before he left for Ottawa.

These ships will "give our Canadian officers and men valuable experience in the handling of these larger craft," he said.

"It is my hope that after the war Canada's navy never will be reduced to its very insignificant status of pre-war days."

The shipping race now is definitely in favor of the United Nations, said Mr. Macdonald. Great Britain, the United States and Canada expect to build this year a tonnage of 22,000,000 to 25,000,000—"a tonnage which the enemy cannot possibly overcome."

LET'S BE DOING ... while we're planning

● Everybody is thinking a great deal about the future these days... planning... getting ready for the period to follow the war. All realize that the war may bring surprises—but the tide is turning in our favour.

Chemists and engineers, producing things needed for war, are making discoveries which will mean comforts and conveniences for all of us when peace comes. New methods of making things, new processes, new materials, now being filed away in blue prints and formulae, will bring us many new and useful articles. Many things not available now will be replaced by better models and designs.

You may have plans for a new home, remodelling your present home, new home furnishings. If you are a farmer you will need new and improved equipment and machinery.

Now, while you are thinking and planning, you can do something to insure that your plans can be carried out. Victory Bonds—which can be bought on convenient instalments, with money as you get it—provide a means of keeping your savings intact, earmarked for things you want.

Most Canadians are saving money. Most of us are buying Victory Bonds and when we buy Victory Bonds we are helping to win the war. We are helping to speed the day of victory and we are doing something that will benefit ourselves.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the face value of the Bond on the date of maturity with half-yearly interest until that time. A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada backed by the entire resources of the Dominion. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest when due. A Victory Bond is an asset readily marketable at any time.
